A Person Wearing a Mask to Help Prevent Getting the Coronavirus

A new illness called the coronavirus is spreading. The coronavirus started in China, but is now spreading to other countries including the U.S. The coronavirus is like the flu. A person with the coronavirus may have symptoms such as a fever, runny nose and cough. The person may become very sick. Since the coronavirus is new, doctors do not have a cure for it. People can help stop the coronavirus. They can stay home when they feel sick and can wash their hands often with warm water and soap. Doctors and leaders around the world are studying the coronavirus and trying to stop it.
